

Land Acknowledgement

We respectfully acknowledge that the Community Living Guelph Wellington (CLGW) buildings in which we work, live, and learn are situated on the Treaty Lands and Territory of the Mississaugas of the Credit and on the Haldimand Tract of the Six Nations of the Grand River. These lands hold deep and enduring significance and have long been places of gathering, learning, stewardship, and adversity.

As we reflect on our privilege to live and work in this community, we remember the Indigenous peoples who were here long before us; who deeply cared for these lands, its waters and wildlife. We acknowledge our responsibility to honour and respect the land, alongside the First Nations, Inuit, and Métis peoples who call this region home today.

Community Living Guelph Wellington is dedicated to understanding the Indigenous history of our community; as a gesture of immense gratitude, and our commitment to ongoing and meaningful reconciliation.

The spirit of this land acknowledgment reinforces CLGW's mission and core values of inclusion, connection, compassion, and community. By honouring Indigenous histories, we affirm our commitment to creating spaces where all voices are respected and valued, and relationships are rooted in trust and understanding. CLGW remains committed to building a safe, strong, and resilient community for all.
